Dear friends one and all, I have exciting news!

I am going to the Sanoviv clinic in Baja in July. I expect to have assessment, and surgery if necessary, to relieve blockage in my jugular veins. You have probably seen it in the media as the "Liberation Treatment" for MS developed in Italy by Dr Zamboni (link below). This Friday, my intake date was confirmed as July 20. I will leave on the 19th and return on the 28th. I'm madly fundraising and asking if anyone has air miles you'd like to share as I have to take a support person, and my daughter Kia will be coming from Ontario to do that, whew! So I'd love to hear from you, I'm sure you know about some possibilities I haven't dreamed of yet. All help is hugely appreciated.

Love, Sarah
